“ Cleta was a very talented person with skills in handiwork and cooking. I enjoyed many conversations with Cleta about her many talents. She loved horses just as Janson loved them. When Janson worked she would water and feed the animals and come to Bishopville to join Janson for a meeting or they would go out to dinner. Janson participated in re-enactments and Cleta often went with him to those events. Cleta did not enjoy camping out and Janson said Arther-itis did not like it either. Cleta and Janson shared many years together and loved genuinely.
